CHEROKEE CPC WORKING TOGETHER TO KEEP STUDENTS IN SCHOOL

“Children are great imitators, so give them something great to imitate.”

The Cherokee County Children’s Policy Council, through their 2009 Need Assessment, identified the need to reduce the number of children who drop out of school. In an effort to raise awareness about how crucial education is, the CPC helped to host the CHOICE bus program for Cherokee County Schools. The CPC along with other community agencies collaborated to bring “It’s your C.H.O.I.C.E. choose wisely”, a three day program, to 2,300 students grades 7 thru 12. The students attended sessions on Drop Out prevention (Choice Bus), Impaired Driving Experience, Celebrate Recovery, Drug Prevention (Cherokee County Drug Task Force), Suicide Prevention (Cherokee County Mental Health), STD Prevention, Crystal Meth (District Attorney), Alcohol (MADD), and Making Good Choices.

All of the students had the opportunity to board the C.H.O.I.C.E bus (The bus is half bus and half simulated prison cell). While on the bus, they watched a video that featured a real life prisoner’s story, providing a reality check that gave the students an inside look at the consequences they could face if they quit school. They were introduced to a prison cell, complete with bars, cinder walls and a mannequin inmate lying on a prison cot. Most students who participated in this program walked away with a better understanding of the importance of staying in school. The impact was so great that the Cherokee CPC and partners

REALITY CHECK IN GENEVA COUNTY

April was a very busy month for the Geneva County Children's Policy Council. With the assistance of Wil Golden from the Cooperative Extension, Reality Check was conducted in four locations in Geneva County. On April 8th, the program was presented to the 8th graders in Slocumb and the following day, Geneva's 8th grade experienced Reality Check. On April 15th, Samson's 10th graders participated and on April 16th, Hartford's 8th grade completed the program. Utilizing community volunteers at each location, Reality Check allows the students to experience a month in the life of a working adult who must provide for a family on an income commensurate with education levels ranging from high school to post graduate degrees. Students gain an understanding of the connection between education and income potential as well as a glimpse of the real world responsibilities that come with adulthood.

GOT ANY BIG IDEAS?

Let's say that you could spend a lunch meeting and pick the keynote speaker yourself. Who would you want to hear? What issues would you like to have addressed? What interests you most right now? Who would you want to hear that would help you better meet the needs of the children in your community? If you have any ideas, please let us know. Just answer these questions:

- If, for the benefit of county Children's Policy Councils, the Department of Children's Affairs could bring a nationally known speaker to a single location in the state for a luncheon, who would that speaker be?
- If you don't know of a speaker – what would the topic be?
- Would you be willing to pay for the cost of the meal in order to hear the speaker?

Think about it . . . then email your responses to amy.floyd@dca.alabama.gov

STUDENTS INVOLVED IN HAITI RELIEF

The Children's Policy Council in Sumter County not only serves the children of the county, but they also expect the children to be involved as well. In response to the devastating earthquake in Haiti, students in Sumter County collected durable medical equipment to donate to the survivors. Out of concern for the victims, students collected a variety of equipment totaling over one hundred pieces. The donation will be sent on May 4th from the students of Sumter County to the citizens of Haiti.

2010 CPC CONFERENCES DRAW A CROWD

The Alabama Department of Children's Affairs held its 9th annual Children's Policy Council Conference. As in years past, the conference was located regionally across the state to bring the conference to more people who otherwise may not have been able to attend.

This year's conference was largely based on feedback received from last year's conference participants and the issues they wanted to know more about. Participants were given the opportunity to learn about various topics that affect Alabama's children.

The conference began with Dr. Susan McKim, Deputy Commissioner of the Department of Children's Affairs, reviewing the information for the 2010 Needs Assessment.

Next, conference participants learned skills of a great leader from Dr. Marquita Davis, Commissioner of the Department of Children's Affairs. Dr. Davis discussed and demonstrated her expertise and knowledge of leadership concepts that she has learned over the years.

Linda Tilly, Executive Director of VOICES, and Melanie Bridgeforth, Policy Analyst/Kids Count Director, discussed Kids Count data and how to break it down on the county level. This session also helped participants understand how to use the data from Kids Count to make decisions on issues involving children.

In the afternoon, participants learned about Sexting from Jamie Keith with the Alabama Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy. Mrs. Keith pointed out alarming facts and data about this growing trend.

Steve Lafreniere, Children's Division Director for the Department of Mental Health, presented information on mental health resources for children and collaborating with others to improve services.

The conference ended with a session about working with the media. In this session presenters discussed the different techniques for dealing with all forms of media to ensure that events are publicized. Best practices for contacting, presenting ideas, having pictures published, having media coverage at an event, and many more topics were discussed. For this topic, local media professionals in each county presented the information. Presenters are as follows:

Atmore Conference - Adam Prestridge, Atmore Advance

Eufaula Conference - Patrick Johnston, The Eufaula Tribune

Opelika Conference - Melanie Beasley, Family Sunshine Center

Marion Conference - Judge Don McMillan

Jasper Conference - Nicole Zema, Corridor Messenger

Albertville Conference - Carl Lowe, CAJA of Marshall County

The Department of Children's Affairs would like to thank all our presenters for taking the time out of their busy schedules. This conference would not have been possible without you!

BULLOCK COUNTY - PROM PROMISE

Judge Teresa Daniel takes her responsibility of chairing the Bullock County Children’s Policy Council seriously. Under her leadership, the Bullock County CPC hosted a Prom Promise event on April 16, 2010 at the Bullock County High School Football Field. With Sgt. Murray coordinating the event, students were able to experience a DUI simulation using fatal vision goggles and to witness a rollover demonstration. The dangers of both driving under the influence and not wearing seatbelts are quite real, and the Bullock County CPC planned the program to coincide with the local prom. Hoping that awareness of the danger would bring about more responsible decision making for the teens, the event was designed to help students think before making poor choices that could have dire consequences.

WILCOX CPC SPONSORS BALLOON RELEASE

In recognition of Child Abuse Prevention Month, the Wilcox County Children’s Policy Council jointly sponsored a Balloon Release with BAMA Kids, Inc. and Wilcox County DHR. On Friday, April 24, the balloon release was held at 10:30 a.m. at Wilcox Central High School in Camden. This event was held in conjunction with the CPC Annual Family Summit.

GRANTS AVAILABLE TO CHILDREN'S POLICY COUNCILS

The Department of Children's Affairs is pleased to announce the availability of funds to benefit the county Children's Policy Councils. The Request for Proposal (RFP), which can be found at www.children.alabama.gov, includes the guidelines that must be followed to access these funds. A maximum of ten grants will be awarded, not to exceed $7,500 per grant. Our hope is that this will offer you some assistance at the local level to make a difference in the lives of the children in your county.

This is a competitive award process; therefore, it is important that you read and understand the instructions provided in the RFP. We have tried to make the process a relatively simple one, but we know that it will still require time and effort on the part of your local Children's Policy Council. The deadline for submission of proposals is May 17, 2010. Do not hesitate to contact Dr. Susan McKim if you have questions regarding this process at susan.mckim@dca.alabama.gov or by phone at 334-353-2709. Good luck in preparing your proposals!
